BARTON HEIGHTS AGAIN WON

Both Games Were Exciting and Witnessed By Large Crowds.

Standing of the Clubs.

Score 5 to 2. Edward's error in the third, coupled with three solid whacks from the erstwhile invibible Leake, gave the Champion Brownies the time when Manchester appeared to have gotten it fixed. Score 6 to 5.

The First Game.

The First Came.

Inger Bob Knightly sent his men to bat the game opened well for the Richmond sgation. Bauer sent one down to first and out. Knightly got to first on an error the left gardener and stole second. Crawfanned. Ford sent a hot one down to and a wild throw brought in two runs chuckers extred the side after two runs been made. But this was all that Richreceivel.

The Second Game.

The Second Game.

Leake's spit-ball wouldn't work just when it should have, and those litting Brownies pounded furiously in the third lining, bringing in five runs.

That fatal lining started cut like this: J McEvoy waked and kept on steading until he got around to third. Then Sharp, within any regard for the feelings of the pitcher, nailed the ball for the feelings of the pitcher, nailed the ball for the seeken Milley feeling and Eache brought with the pitcher with a safe of the pitcher with a safe of the pitcher with a safe of the threw wild, allowing two runs to come in Hulcher got a safe one and McLevy, he who once went to the North Carolina League, did likewise. Hulcher scored Smith ender misery by popping up to short. In the seventh the Brownies made another run.

Manchester got two runs in the first inning, one in the third, another in the fifth and one in the ninth, making a total of five. But until the ninth Brooks had not been hit safely. Elmore, for the team from Manchester, opened with a two-busger. Leake drew a base and Hogan made a pretty searfier. J. Jennings put a long one to right ring. Elmore, J. Anthony got to first on an error and started lowards second. He played between the bases-to-draw at throw home and was successful in his effort. Leake was caught near the home plate and the Brownies had won again.

Thirteen Boats Begin Race in Heavy Rainstorm-Apache Returns.

(By Associated Press.)

DOVER, ENG., June 17.—Thirteen yachts started from here to-day in the annual race from Dover to Heligoland for Emperor William's cup, in a heavy rain storm and with a light wind blowing. Shortly afterwards, at about noon, the American yachts Atlantic and Apache and the British yacht Valhalia got away in a fog over the same course for a special cup offered by Emperor William for the auxiliary yachts which participated in the recent trans-Atlante race. The Apache later returned to Dover Bay, not liking the thick weather in the channel. It is expected that the race will occupy nearly fifty hours.

Oxford Oarmsan None Too Hope ful of British Success in

AMERICANS IN THE CONTEST

Vesper Boat Club, of Philadelphia, Will Give Foreigners Hard Tussle.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch and

New York Herald.) (Copyright, by the New York Herald Co.) LONDON, June 17.-Mr. Theodore A. Cook, the old Oxford oarsman, writing in the Daily Telegraph on the prospects of the international rowing contest at Henley next month, when the Vesper Boat Club, of Philadelphia; the Club Nautique, of Ghent and the Berlin Rowing Club are all to try to wrest honors from the English crews, does not appear too hopeful of English success.

"It seems probable," he says, "that England will have to depend chiefly upon university talent, and it is only truth to say that we have had many better to say that we have had many better years for English oarsmen than this. "The foreign competition, on the other hand, will undoubtedly be above the average."

This tells a good deal when former contests are recalled.

The Leander Club, which can pick from past university oarsmen and can take all the best present oarsmen, who are not already bound to their own crews, will past university oursmen and can take all the best present parsmen, who are not already bound to their own crews, will probably have to be the champion to defend the world's best rowing prize in the final heat, but it will take them all their time, for remember, without going further back than 1900, in that year the Belgians entered against five English crews for the grand, and met Leander in the final, when they created the supprise of the regatta. It was only in the last one hundred yards that Leander came up in slack water and won a very hard contest.

The secret of the Belgians' pace appeared to be that thought every min violities of the supprise of the grand won a very hard contest.

They will be just as plucky and just as well together this year, and they now know a great deal more about English style, they were wonderfully together. They will be just as niucky and just as well together this year, and they now know a great deal more about English form. A great race to be remembered with the Berlin Rowing Club was the splendid struggle for Lord O'Brien's cup at Cork. Berlin went at a terr fic pace, and not till the seventh minute was past did the swing and leg drive of the Englishmen bring them un level. For thirty straining seconds did the boats hand locked together, and this means that at a distance equal to that of the Henley course the Germans would not have been beaten.

"Since then the Germans have strengthemed their crew and have had the inestimable advantage of having been coached by Mr. Rudolph Lehmann during the last few years."

"But the season of 1901 was, of course, the meat remember of 1901 was, of course, the meat remembe hy Mr. Rudolph Lehmann during the last few years.

"But the season of 1901 was, of course, the most remarkable for the visit of the Pennsylvania crew. They beat Thames, beat London, gave the Leanden crew a hard fight for the mastery, and, in the opinion of Mr. Cook, 'were beaten more by faults inherent' in Mr. Ellis Ward's system of training and coaching than by any lack of strength or courage. But it took a first rate crew to beat them, and it may be added this same crew had only finished a short length ahead of the Bengans the day before."
